Trainers Profile

SUCHIT GODARA

Aptitude & Reasoning Expert | CRT Specialist

◆ About Me

With over 10 years of experience in the education and training industry, I specialize in Aptitude, Logical Reasoning, and CRT training. As a Senior Aptitude Trainer at Fiat Consultancy Services since 2023, I've been driving student success through structured problem-solving strategies, conceptual clarity, and real-time aptitude assessments across major institutions.

◆ Core Training Expertise

- ✓ Quantitative Aptitude & Logical Reasoning
- ✓ Campus Recruitment Training (CRT)
- ✓ Test Preparation for Placement Exams
- ✓ Concept Building through Live Examples
- ✓ Time Management & Speed Techniques
- ✓ Problem Solving & Strategic Thinking
- ✓ Motivational and Confidence Building Sessions

◆ Key Institutions & Projects:

Fiat Consultancy Services – CRT Training at JECRC & Colleges in Jaipur and beyond
 REGex Software – Senior Aptitude Trainer for CRT Programs
 Ybiance Training LLP – Reasoning & Aptitude Programs across Rajasthan

About CRT Phase-III

These programs encompass a range of components including aptitude classes, technical classes, HR interviews, technical interviews, and group discussions, all aimed at enhancing students' employability and preparing them for the demands of the professional world.

Aptitude Classes: Building Fundamental Skills

Aptitude classes form the cornerstone of campus recruitment training, focusing on developing essential skills such as quantitative aptitude, logical reasoning, and verbal ability. These classes not only help students improve their problem-solving abilities but also enable them to approach complex challenges with confidence. By honing their aptitude skills, students become better equipped to tackle the rigorous selection processes employed by recruiters, which often include aptitude tests as an initial screening mechanism.

Technical Classes in Civil Engineering: Fostering Domain Expertise

Technical classes in civil engineering play a pivotal role in building strong foundational and advanced knowledge among students. These sessions are designed to bridge the gap between theoretical learning and practical application. Through focused lectures, hands-on training, software exposure, and problem-solving sessions, students gain deep insights into core domains such as structural engineering, geotechnical engineering, transportation, environmental engineering, construction management, and surveying.

--	---	---------------------------------------

By engaging with real-life case studies, design standards (like IS codes), estimation practices, and field challenges, technical classes foster critical thinking and industry readiness. Moreover, these sessions often integrate training on modern tools such as AutoCAD, STAAD Pro, Primavera, and GIS, enhancing students' technical proficiency and employability. Overall, technical classes serve as a vital platform for nurturing domain-specific expertise and preparing students for both competitive exams and professional roles.

HR Interviews: Mastering the Art of Communication

Effective communication is a vital skill that transcends disciplinary boundaries and plays a pivotal role in professional success. HR interviews simulate real-world recruitment scenarios, giving students the opportunity to refine their interpersonal skills, articulate their experiences and aspirations, and demonstrate their suitability for the roles they seek. Through mock interviews, feedback sessions, and personality development workshops, students learn to present themselves authentically, project confidence, and engage with recruiters in a manner that sets them apart from their peers.

Technical Interviews: Demonstrating Proficiency and Problem-Solving Abilities

Technical interviews serve as a litmus test of candidates' subject matter expertise, problem-solving abilities, and adaptability to dynamic challenges. Campus recruitment training programs prepare students for technical interviews by familiarizing them with common interview formats, exposing them to industry-specific case studies and scenarios, and facilitating hands-on practice through coding challenges and technical assessments. By simulating real-world technical challenges and providing constructive feedback, these programs empower students to showcase their competencies and secure coveted job offers from leading organizations.

Group Discussions: Cultivating Collaboration and Critical Thinking

Group discussions are a hallmark of campus recruitment processes, offering recruiters insights into candidates' teamwork capabilities, communication skills, and ability to think critically under pressure. Campus recruitment training programs conduct group discussion sessions to simulate the collaborative dynamics of professional environments, encourage participants to express diverse viewpoints, and foster consensus-building and conflict resolution skills. Through structured exercises, role-playing scenarios, and peer evaluations, students develop the confidence and acumen to actively contribute to group discussions and emerge as effective team players in the workplace.

In conclusion, campus recruitment training plays a pivotal role in bridging the gap between academia and industry, equipping students with the requisite skills, knowledge, and confidence to succeed in today's competitive job market. By integrating aptitude classes, technical classes,

- Student should carry their college ID card during complete CRT.
- The TPO holds ultimate decision-making power.

This policy ensures punctuality, discipline, and commitment to the training program, helping students prepare effectively for campus recruitment.

Following Instruction are given by TPO to the students of the department regarding the schedule of the training: -

1. Pre-Placement (Soft Skill) training will be starting from 19th June 2025 i.e. , so all Inset Students including 1 backlog (List Attached) are required to report sharp at 8:30 AM to your respective mentors and then move to respective venues as per time table attached.
2. As per the instruction of management, if any student not report till 21th June 2025, then he/she will not be allowed in training as well as placement drives throughout the year.
